In Afternoon Contest in the Amateu Championship Townsend Earns His First Victory at Marcotte's Expense

-Scores of the Liederkranz Games. Charles Conklin of Chicago met his first defeat last night in the 14-inch balkline ama-teur championship billiard tournament at the Liederkranz Club. A large crowd saw Edward Gardner win from him by a score of Edward Gardner win from him by a scote of 300 to 288. It was Gardner's first victory.

Over-anxiety, or vision slightly out of plumb, used several misses of sinecure shots or both sides in the first 100 points.

Runs of 27 and 20 in the eighth and ninth innings gave Gardner the lead, the score ing 60 to 63. In the next inning, playing with more snap and elasticity, he added 18 points, gauging his short drives better. But he was still uncertain on the second ball, as shown by a hairbreadth miss when drawing shown by a hairbreadth miss which that was shore the outside edge of the third globule. But he was playing the game. His fourth double figure rum in succession—48—made his total 135 to Conklin's 74. The rum was thoroughly earned. Annoying line-ups and other puzzling groupings happened time and again, but Gardner's perseverance never faltered. Conklin, meanwhile, was travelling a thorny path, and it was the fifteenth inning before he reached a hundred points. The score then was 153 to 103 in his rival's favor. Both were finding the balls capricious—rebellious rather than yielding. Counting was uphill work. However, care and persistence in the nineteenth inning enabled Gardner to depart from the desert of short runs into the land of plenty again. Liberal and deft usage of the cushions marked the session, and when its 48 resultant points had been chalked up Gardner was in his third century. In another inning he was just 100 points ahead—218 to 118 was the score.

Gardner was the embodiment of patience as he put together a run of 28 in the twenty-second inning, and the disturbing frequency with which the cue ball barely grazed the second object ball flustered his sympathizers, but not him.

After being more or less dormant from the third inning on, Conklin quickened into a state of dangerous aggressiveness in the twenty-fourth. He ran 20, and then under the tonical influence of that spurt, cut loose with a brisk luning of 35. He did not let go even when Gardner had only 4 to go, making a gallant stand with a run of 46. Soon afterward he made 35 more. It was a nervy case of "biring on the bullet," and the fine rally was loudly applauded

The afternoon game brought to Arthur Townsend of Brooklyn his first victory of the tournament. He defeated Arthur Marcotte of Quebec by a score of 300 to 259. Marcotte gathered in a dozen points before the Brooklynite had any, and the latter was behind until the seventh inning, when he set the balls rolling smoothly and lucratively. He played along at an even gait, negotiating the long range shots just as accorrectly and just as accurately as the shots within easier striking distance, and his counting ability was so well sustained that he ran up the inning to 60. He nursed and fathered the balls splendidly. Then both men counted slowly, but with Townsend improving his lead steadily, and when he had 101 points Marcotte had but 44.

There was little of moment in the second string, which Townsend finished in his thirtieth inning, so his opponent's run of 60 had been very helpful. Marcotte in his thirtieth inning made a quick, spiried and attractive run of 29, the balls being nearly all the time in one corner. He missed a one cushion shot, requiring a sharp angle, through overconfidence. Townsend replied with a run that was equally satisfying to the billiard appetite, though a bit shorter. It was embellished by a trio of masterly massés, in one of which the sweep of the cue ball sent it coursing around for a simultaneous bump into the object balls. Tewnsend was only 31 points ahead when Marcotte went into his third string. This was in the tritty-eighth inning, and the sweep of the cue ball sent it coursing around for a simultaneous bump into the object balls. The latter palied the length

Tufts Greatest Athlete to Leave College MEDFORD, Mass., Feb. 8. - Those interested ng to learn that Wiert V. Cannel, captain of the baseball team for this spring and of footthe baseball team for this spring and of loot-ball for next fall, had been placed upon spe-cial probation. The reason given for this action of the faculty is that Cannel's work in his studies has fallen far below the average. Cannel says that he will leave college at once. He is the best all around athlete that Tufts has had for some time. He excelled in base-ball, and last year played phenomenally and ended the season with a batting average of .357 and a fielding average of .933. In football he was equally good.

LOCAL TURF GOSSIP.

Brighton Handicap to Be Run at the Beach on Saturday, July 9. Secretary John Boden, Jr., of the Brighton Beach Racing Association announced yes-terday that the $25,000 Brighton Handicap for which all of the best horses in the country are eligible, will be run on Saturday, July 9. instead of on the opening day of the midsum-mer meeting at the Beach, July 6. As this will be one of the most interesting races of the year the Brighton management has de ided to make the Brighton Cup and the $30,000 Produce Stakes features of the autum meeting. In this way both meetings at the Beach will have their star attractions so divided up that public interest will not be lacking at any period. The Brighton Cup, from the entries received, bids fair to be one of the great long distance events of the year a branch of the turf that increases in point of popularity from year to year. The Produce Stakes, run in two divisions, will probably attract many of the best two year-olds, as the prize is too rich to be ignored.

It is said that Jockey Helgersop will do the bulk of the riding for Capt. S. S. Brown's big stable this year. Helgerson has been in the employ of the Brown stable for several years, but has confined his work to Western tracks. George Odom has been Capt. Brown's years, but has contined his work to Western tracks. George Odom has been Capt. Brown's mainstay on the Eastern turf, but, so far. Odom has not signed for another campaign, it is said. The reasen ascribed is that Bob Tucker, Capt. Brown's new trainer, who has succeeded the veteran Peter Wimmer, favors Helgerson, partially because he is a light, weight of experience, as against Odom's increasing avoirdupois, and partially because he does not command a princely salary. If Odom is turned adrift, he will be in demand, no doubt, as both A. J. Joyner and Sydney Paget made liberal use of him last year. He is considered by many to be the best Jockey in America, bar nobody.

Jockeys Redfern and Romanelli, who expected to ride for W. C. Whitney this year, are looking for other engagements, believing as they do that the Whitney horses, if raced at all this year, will run in some name other than that of the family. Hedfern has already been talked of as one of the riders for Thomas & Shields, who have already secured H. Phillips, the leading rider at New Orleans. If Redfern is at liberty there will be a scramble for his services, but it is safe to say that he will not earn $40,000 this year as easily as he did last season.

A chestnut filly by the $50,000 Nasturtium out of the noted brood mare Thorn Blossom has just been fonded at J. B. Haggin's Elmendorf Stud. Nasturtium was purchased jointly by the late W. C. Whitney and Mr. Haggin, and went to England to carry the Whitney colors in the Derby of 1902. But he became touched in the wind and was sent home in hoppeless shape. Nasturtium is by the famous Watercress.

touched in the wind and was sent home in hopeless shape. Nasturtium is by the famous Watercress.

Water Jennings, who has a number of Haggin horses in his string, still heads the list of winning owners at San Francisco, with $23,785. S. W. Streett heads the list at New Orleans, with $11,943.

Joseph Reilly, superintendent of the Aqueduct track, says that many high class horses have been named for the $5,000 Carter Handicap, which will be run on the flist only of the spring meeting, April 15. He also says that the reduction of the distance in several two-year-old stakes to four and a half furlongs, which will be run over the new straightaway course, may induce some of the big stables to try out their youngsters earlier than usual. The entries for the following stakes to be run at Aqueduct will close on Feb. 22:

For three-year-olds and upward—Carter Handicap, $1,500 added, seven furlongs; Queens County Handicap, $1,500 added, seven furlongs; Peconic Stakes, $1,000 added, four furlongs; Hose Stakes, $1,000 added, four furlongs; Rose Stakes, $1,000 added, four furlon

Advance Guard of the Annual Westminster Kennel Club Show.

A collie, all the way from Chicago, and two Gordon setters from West Virginia arrived at Madison Square Garden yesterday for at Madison Square Garden yesterday for exhibition at the twenty-eighth annual show of the Westminister Kennel Club that opens to-morrow. Usually the four days of the canine congress begin on Tuesday, which presumably accounts for the early shipments. The work of preparing the Garden for the The work of preparing the Garden for the show was under way yesterday, and the seven judging rings and all the benches will be ready this afterneon, when the trio in possession will be joined by hundreds of dogs from all parts of the country. Supt. Mortimer moved his office from the Townsend Building yesterday to the Garden.

H., of the Genesee Valley Hunt, sent word that he will not fulfil the engagement, which leaves seven packs in for the hunt club special prize. All the masters have sent in the names of their dogs except P. F. Collier, M. H., of the Monmouth County Hunt. English foahounds have been in strict control for so many years that the habit of obedience has become second nature. When out for exercise, the pack will trot along without fuss or troubling any one, paying no heed to stray dogs that are met and keeping in a compact body even through a bustling village street, as in Hempstead or Red Bank. The huntsman and his helpers call each dog by name in giving orders, or when praise or blame is meted out, and in the kennel or field, if a dog's name is called, he will come away from the others, who keep on about their own business. The names should suggest the hunting field, but the Montreal M. H. has not kept very close to tradition. All are English foxhounds and the Meadow Brook to were named before being sent over. The names follow, each draft being of five couples:

Meadow Brook, Foxhall Keene, M. H.—First pack, dogs—Fugleman, Visitor, Telegraph, Telephone, Goblet, Smiler, Whipend, Parson, Marksman, Governor. Second pack, bitches—Mischlef, Music, Mayfly, Beauty, Rarlty, Bertha, Mayday, Mabel, Ransom, Sybli.

AUTO BOATS ON SHOW.

Many Novelties on Exhibition at Herald Square Hall. Auto boat enthusiasts gathered at Herald Square Exhibition Hall yesterday to see the National Motor Auto Boat Exposi-tion. Things were hardly as shipshape yesterday as the managers would have liked, owing to some of the exhibitors being with their boats, but those who visited the show found enough to interest them. The hall is tastefully decorated with bunting, and the largest yacht flag in the world hung at one end of the room. This flag is 135 feet long and 36 feet hoist and is made up of 171

yacht club pennants of uniform size. There are motor boats of all sorts and sizes, and in price they range from $175 for a small boat suitable for a yacht tender or for an afternoon's fun on a small piece of water to afternoon's fun on a small piece of water to almost any price one may wish to pay. These boats have been sent by some of the best builders in the country. Some of the boats are of the regulation type, but there are a few freaks that have been designed for speed and which are expected to make some records when the racing season opens
There are a few novelties, too, in the shape of motors, and these will be in working order to-day and show in a measure what they do. One motor which will develop three horse-do. One motor which will develop three horse-power weighs only 75 pounds. A 15-foot model of a flying machine is in working order. There is a small motor on the machine, and this works the propeders by which the machine is driven. Another novel machine is a motor for an iceboat. The motor works a wheel which grips the ice and is expected to drive the boat over the surface at a good pate of speed. The show will open this morning again and will last for two weeks.

Hockey.

There was a hockey match at the Ciermont rink last night between teams of the Crescent A. C. and the Skating Club of Brook lyn. The Crescents discounted every attempt of the Brooklyns until Bray shot the only of the Brooklyns until Bray shot the only goal of the game for the Skating Club on a sidelong pass from Henderson. Shiebler, Dobby and Liffiton tallied in the order named in the first half for the Crescents. The Crescents simply toyed with their opponents in the second half, running up a total of 8 goals for the period. Shiebler made one, Wall two, Dobby three and Liffiton one. The final score was: Crescent A. C., 11 goals; Brooklyn Skating Club, 1 goal.

CURATE IN FRONT AT 50 TO 1.

LONG SHOT TAKES THE OPENING EVENT AT NEW ORLEANS.

Arch Oldham, a Shifty Youngster, Win the Two-Year-Old Race Handily-Miss Melton Just Defeats the Outsider Mammon-Big Ben and Mauser Win.

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 8 .- The programme at the Fair Grounds this afternoon was made up of ordinary material. Five of the six races of equines paraded to the post in every event, with the exception of the two-year-old race. But, with a poor lot of horses running, the races were good, driving and head finishes being the rule. The track was still heavy. Horsemen here are discussing the propo new race course which will be built in the vicinity of City Park. It is said that Sam Lazarus, the "Texas Cattle King," and a number of local people are interested.

The sensation of the racing was the victory of Curate in the opening event Curate was as good as 50 to 1 in the betting and won in a hard drive by a nose on the post from Favonius, the heavily played odds-on favorite.

Favonius, the heavily played odds-on favorite.

Arch Oldham clearly demonstrated that he is the best two-year-old here in the second event on the card. The son of Gallantry is about the quickest horse ever seen here at the post. When the barrier was released he broke in front and won with his head in Hicks's lap by three lengths. He beat two of the best colts shown here in Friar Tuck and Al' Scarlet. There was a plunge on Clear the Araen in the third race. The Ullman filly was played down from 7 to 2 to 7 to 10 at post time, but the ride she received at the hands of Hennessy ruined her chances. Turf Notes.

Jockey Danny Maher has engaged passage on he White Star liner Cedric, which sails on Feb. 24. the racing season in England opens on March 17 not Maher has received instructions to be in England efore that date. He will ride again for Sir James direr, who has first call on his services, and for ord Derby, who has second call. Each stable as about twenty horses. Mars Cassidy has at last decided that he will rop the flag at the Hot Springs meeting, which pens on Feb. 25 and continues until March 19. Sanford Lyne, father of Lucien Lyne, the well known lockey, says that Lucien intends to leave the turf and study medicine.

Both will be declared out of their early spring and summer engagements in the East.

Typhoon II., a Kentucky Derby winner, who defeated the mighty Ornament in 1807 after a heart breaking contest, and a great race horse, is now hauling fodder for borses and cows. After winning many stakes for J. C. Cann, in addition to the Derby, A. Featherstone purchased the great colt for $14.000. As a four-year-old Typhoon II. won many great races in the Featherstone colors, among them being a race at Gravesend, when he carried the crushing weight of 145 pounds, running the six furlongs in 1.15%.

The executive committee will meet again on Thursday afternoon to prepare the report for the annual meeting in the evening. New York Ball Players Sniff the Pennant Battle. Although cold and nipping winds are the rder around here, the members of the New York National League baseball team are already sniffing the pennant battle from afar. Bill Dahlen, the recently acquired shortstop of the team, is packing his trunk getting ready for a trip to Hot Springs He will stay at Hot Springs until the team reports at Savannah in March. Christy Mathewports at Savannah in March. Christy Mathewson, the star pitcher, ran in from Plainfield, N. J., where he is now living, yesterday to inquire about the Southern trip. Luther Taylor, the deaf and dumb pitcher, is teaching school in Baldwin, Kan., and Secretary Knowles received a letter from him yesterday saving that he was delighted that the base ball season was approaching rapidly.

Mr. Knowles also had letters yesterday from McCormack, the new outfielder, who is at Buckneil College: Devlin, the new third baseman, who is wintering in Washington, and Milligan, the new left-hand pitcher, who wrote that he had been doing gymnasium work in Buffalo, and that he was ready to play ball at any time. McCormack, Devlin and Milligan sent in measurements for their uniforms.
